

Ron G. Holt
President and Chief Executive Officer
EFI Global, Inc.

Ron Holt is President and Chief Executive Officer of EFI Global, which provides forensic engineering, fire investigation, environmental and testing services to the insurance, commercial, industrial, public corporate and legal communities. EFI Global is a subsidiary of GAB Robins North America, Inc.

Mr. Holt previously served as Chief Operating Officer of EFI Global with responsibility for the overall field operations of the company. Prior to becoming COO, he was Vice President of EFI Global's Real Property Services Division where he managed a wide range of services including Environmental Site Assessments, Remediation, Asbestos and Lead Based Paint Consulting, Indoor Air Quality/Mold Testing and Remedial Design, Compliance Audits and Property Condition Assessments.

Mr. Holt is a successful and distinguished leader with more than 30 years in the engineering, environmental and construction industry. With a strong background in operations and business development, Mr. Holt has served in numerous executive management positions and owned and operated several of his own companies.

After beginning this career in 1976, Mr. Holt established the largest fire alarm and life safety company in the Southern U.S. He also established additional successful companies specializing in products and services such as health and safety, industrial coatings, insulation and environmental services. Mr. Holt later sold his environmental services company in 1986 to Allwaste, where he became President of the Abatement Division. Mr. Holt also served on the Corporate Acquisition Team, which grew to over $100 million in five years. After assisting Allwaste in the sale of the Division to IAM Environmental in 1991, Mr. Holt held a series of senior positions within the company, including management of the Abatement and Remediation divisions. In 1993, he became Director of Marketing – Facilities Engineering for Law Engineering, parent company of IAM Environmental, Inc.

Mr. Holt went on to serve as Vice President of the Commercial Division with Fugro International where he developed and strengthened the Real Property Services group while managing significant national accounts across the U.S. After Fugro sold the Environmental Division to ENSR Corporation in 1996, Mr. Holt served as Vice President, Southern Region until ENSR sold the division to EFI Global in 2000.

Mr. Holt holds a BS, summa cum laude, from Sam Houston State University. He also holds an MA from the University of Houston, and has attended numerous Executive Education Programs including the Wharton School of Business, New York University, and Rice University.
